Hi Jennifer - Not sure I've seen any slides we've sent up and suggest we keep this more conversational using the memo & referring to suggested talkers, etc.

Were you able to check with OCIR about any earlier outreach they may have received?

Thanks

Thanks, Jennifer! Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) Thanks for these updates. As the Administrator will also just be coming back, I suggest that we do offer to walk him through some key reminders and updates. Why don't I do the opening and turn it over to you for that and I'll ask him how much he's had time to dig in first?

Vicki -

It's been a busy week. Here's a download on a few items. Happy to discuss over the weekend or early next week, as appropriate. There will be some overlap with your binder, but I thought it would help to provide commentary and attach relevant files here as well for quick reference.

- 1. Administrator briefing on DeJoy meeting now MONDAY 9:15am
- Briefing Memo (sent to AO) attached.
- I connected with Melissa and Ale and both are on invite. Karl is on leave; per Ale, Britney McCoy is on invite and will dial in while in transit.
- Since we only have 15 minutes and Phil suggested we assume he has read the materials, the focus can be on discussion/questions. I am happy to provide an overview, as appropriate, and additional context or defer to you if you prefer.

- USPS SEIS: EPA scoping comments letter on the announcement that USPS would do a Supplemental EIS is due 7/25. The draft will be ready for our review later this week.
- 2. SLC NEPA slide attached. I reached out to Region 10 and either the RA or DRA will speak up in support of the NEPA MYP request. I also talked with OGC about amplifying support. Adaptation prep is in the binder. I recommended fewer words on the slides, but it is a style thing so defer to your preference. Joel is prepared to pare it down on Monday if you'd like.

I hope you had a nice trip! Jennifer

Good Afternoon Dan and Victoria -

Hope both are doing well.

I wanted to confirm that we recently scheduled an in-person meeting between Administrator Regan and Postal Service Postmaster General, Louis DeJoy, for Tuesday, July 12th at 3:00 pm.

Ahead of this meeting, we have also scheduled a 15-minute pre-brief on Monday, July 11th between 1:45 -2:00 pm.

Please could you let us know who will be the running point on materials for the pre-brief (July 11) and meeting (July 12)? Please note that materials for the pre-brief are due to Ashley by Thursday, July 7th at 3:00 pm. Additionally, materials for the meeting are due to Ashley by Friday, July 8th at noon.

If you may have any questions, please let us know.

He is proposing a one-on-one meeting.

Would Administrator Regan by any chance have time on his calendar later this week or next to meet? Postmaster General DeJoy would be happy to host the meeting here at our headquarters, or travel to the EPA office.

Marc did an excellent job reworking the Memo based on today's NOI. I made a couple revisions and accepted RLSO, so I've asked Marc to take a final read through in the AM.

It is due NLT noon Thursday. I don't know if that gives you a chance to review tomorrow AM, but let me know if you have revisions or if it is cleared to forward to Ashley.

Hello Ms. Lance:

Postmaster General DeJoy would like to find time later this week, or early next week, to sit down with Administrator Regan. The purpose would be to update the Administrator on a series of actions we are taking in connection with modernizing our delivery network, including our delivery vehicles. He is proposing a one-on-one meeting.

Would Administrator Regan by any chance have time on his calendar later this week or next to meet? Postmaster General DeJoy would be happy to host the meeting here at our headquarters, or travel to the EPA office.

I look forward to hearing from you and thank you for your help with this request.

Hello Kathleen:

Thank you for your response and this option. Ideally the meeting would occur sooner. Is there any chance July 7, 8 are an earlier option?

If not, we can suggest times the week of July 11.

Hi Peter -

Thank you again for reaching out to schedule this meeting. We unfortunately have a very busy schedule tomorrow, and then have substantial travel through the next few weeks.

Would it be possible to set this meeting for the week of July 11?

Postmaster General DeJoy would like to find time later this week, or early next week, to sit down with Administrator Regan. The purpose would be to update the Administrator on a series of actions we are taking in connection with modernizing our delivery network, including our delivery vehicles. He is proposing a one-on-one meeting.

Would Administrator Regan by any chance have time on his calendar later this week or next to meet? Postmaster General DeJoy would be happy to host the meeting here at our headquarters, or travel to the EPA office.

I look forward to hearing from you and thank you for your help with this request.

Jennifer,

I've attached a clean version of the Administrator's DeJoy meeting memo.

Changes:

- Noted at the top that this memo was revised today.
- Updated the date and time of the meeting.
- Updated this paragraph with a sentence about the planned processing centers:
- On May 16, 2022, DeJoy announced plans for sweeping delivery network and operational improvements. The Postal Service plans to build 60 regional processing centers, beginning with initiatives in Atlanta, Indianapolis, and Charlotte. The Postal Service is exploring options for prioritizing BEV production.

Please let me know if you need anything else, including if a blackline would be helpful.

SUBJECT: Meeting with Postmaster General Louis DeJoy

DATE: Friday, July 22, 2022

TIME: 1:00-1:30 PM

I. REQUESTING OFFICE:

Postmaster General Louis DeJoy requested this meeting.

II. PURPOSE

DeJoy wants to discuss U.S. Postal Service ("Postal Service") plans for delivery network modernization, route optimization, and centralization of operations. This meeting is a chance to meet DeJoy and promote EPA's view that postal fleet replacement should maximize battery electric vehicle ("BEV") purchases to meet climate policy goals. Also, you should urge DeJoy to enlist EPA experts to assist with the Postal Service's imminent National Environmental Policy Act ("NEPA") environmental review.

III. BACKGROUND AND HISTORY

Note: Due to significant recent changes in Postal Service fleet replacement plans, we substantially revised this memo as compared with the last version you received.

On July 20, 2022, the Postal Service announced major revisions to its fleet replacement plans. According to the Notice of Intent (the "July NOI") accompanying the announcement, the Postal Service will prepare a Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement ("SEIS") that could yield a "substantial increase" in planned BEV purchases as compared with plans in the January 7, 2022 Final Environmental Impact Statement ("FEIS").

The July NOI is itself an update to their June 1, 2022, NOI (the "June NOI") announcing their intent to prepare a SEIS. The July NOI seems to abandon the proposals from the June NOI. Instead, the July NOI reflects proposals to:

- Limit the impact of the FEIS to the first order of 50,000 Next Generation Delivery Vehicles ("NGDVs"). Also, the order will now consist of at least 50% BEVs, significantly more than under prior plans, with the balance being custom-made internal combustion engine ("ICE") NGDVs;
- Prepare a supplemental EIS for any future NGDV purchase above that initial 50,000 vehicles; and
- Purchase 34,500 Commercial Off-the-Shelf ("COTS") vehicles, including up to 20,000 BEVs.

Because the July NOI limits the effect of the FEIS to the first NGDV order, it appears the Postal Service can re-evaluate its choices from the FEIS. This may open the door to changing the emissions-intensive design of its ICE NGDVs, which get 8.6 mpg, barely better than trucks they use now (8.2 mpg).

This Postal Service turnabout in procurement strategy comes after months during which the landscape changed:

- In our February 2, 2022 comment letter, EPA deemed the FEIS "seriously deficient" and urged the Postal Service to prepare an SEIS.
- On March 17, 2022, the Postal Service Office of the Inspector General published findings that BEVs were superior to ICE vehicles on cost and environmental impacts.
- On March 24, 2022, the Postal Service announced its first NGDV order, including more BEVs than anticipated (20% of the order) based on the contract minimum of 10%.
- On April 5, 2022, the U.S. Government Accountability Office published a study questioning key FEIS assumptions: 1) a gas price about $2 less than the national average; and 2) higher maintenance costs for BEVs.
- In April and May, Democratic congressional leaders pushed for rapid Postal Service fleet electrification via hearings and document requests.
- On April 6, 2022, President Biden signed the overwhelmingly bipartisan Postal Service Reform Act (PSRA). The PRSA repealed a requirement that Postal Service pre-fund retirement health benefits for employees, freeing the Postal Service from fiscal obligations that contributed to years of multi-billion-dollar losses.
- On April 28, 2022, NGOs and state governments initiated three separate lawsuits alleging Postal Service violations of NEPA and requesting that courts order the Postal Service to prepare a new EIS and forbid action under the NGDV contract until the Postal Service complies with NEPA.
- On May 12, 2022, the Senate confirmed two Biden nominees to the Postal Service Board of Governors, giving Democrats a majority on the Board. The new members are Daniel Tangherlini and Derek Kan.
- On May 16, 2022, DeJoy announced plans for sweeping delivery network and operational improvements. The Postal Service plans to build 60 regional processing centers, beginning with initiatives in Atlanta, Indianapolis, and Charlotte.

• On June 1, 2022, the Postal Service released its June NOI, which observers took as a signal the Postal Service would increase BEV purchases.

IV. KEY ISSUES

To reduce the environmental impacts, including in communities with environmental justice concerns, from the largest federal vehicle procurement in the foreseeable future, and align with science-based goals and federal emissions reduction targets, the Postal Service should maximize BEV deployment in its fleet. Even under the latest plans in the July NOI, the Postal Service may put tens of thousands of high-emitting ICE vehicles in service for decades.

The July NOI suggests that the Postal Service's delivery network reforms and route optimization efforts will make it easier to integrate BEV charging infrastructure and buy more BEVs.

EPA is preparing comments responding to the July NOI, which proposed the scope of the impending SEIS. EPA has asked the Postal Service to make EPA a cooperating agency.

V. STAKEHOLDER INVOLVEMENT

Environmental advocates called on EPA to refer the Postal Service FEIS to CEQ. State and local governments and environmental organizations are suing to stop the NGDV contract and require the Postal Service to re-do its EIS.

VI. TALKING POINTS

- EPA supports the Postal Service's revised plans for fleet replacement. We are pleased to see you take this historically significant step to decarbonize the postal fleet and accelerate the energy transition.
- EPA wants the best environmental outcome from the postal fleet replacement that supports both Postal Service and community needs. We think a fleet of predominantly electric vehicles serves Postal Service and community needs.
- We want to be a cooperating agency to proactively help the Postal Service prepare its Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement. EPA's assistance can improve the technical and economic accuracy of the Supplemental EIS. Our expertise can help identify practical alternatives, inform decision making, and lower litigation risk.
- With zero tailpipe emissions, Postal Service EVs can alleviate air pollution impacts in neighborhoods with environmental justice concerns and especially around centralized distribution centers. As the Postal Service implements its operational and fleet changes, we encourage you to prioritize these health impacts and benefits of EVs.
